FOREWORD

The Faculty Achievements Brochure, an annual publication from The American University of Paris, shows the breadth and quality of faculty endeavors throughout the previous year. This 2020 edition once again showcases the University's rising reputation for academic rigor and innovation in scholarship, thanks to the tireless creative work of the AUP faculty.

The Covid-19 pandemic has presented unprecedented challenges across the field of higher education. AUP faculty needed to pivot to remote teaching practices in very little time, employing flexibility and compassion to ensure the continuation of the high-quality, international learning experience for which the University is known. This additional teaching effort makes the list of accomplishments on display in this brochure even more impressive. I am proud of our AUP professors for their resilience, determination and versatility. This year's Distinguished Teaching Award was shared among every member of the AUP faculty, as a recognition of the exceptional effort that each and every professor has made to ensure the University can withstand the impacts of a turbulent and historic year.

The books, articles, workshops, conferences, media appearances, honors and collaborations detailed in this brochure are evidence of the breadth and depth of interdisciplinary scholarship, community engagement and all-round commitment of faculty to providing a rigorous liberal arts learning experience for the global explorers that are AUP's students. The work of professors extends far beyond the classroom, traversing cultural and intellectual borders through student-faculty collaborations across a variety of disciplines; in-depth research and field work, through AUP's departments and research centers; and attendance at international conferences, many of which have been held online. Innovation has been necessary to ensure the experiential components of students' studies have translated to remote-learning practices.

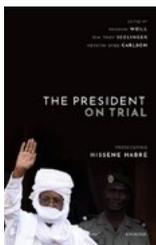

The lessons learned from adapting to these new approaches will be carried over into future projects, further strengthening AUP's legacy of engaged faculty scholarship that shows a commitment to addressing contemporary global issues. I hope you enjoy reading about all that our professors achieved in 2020.
